Earlham College.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. RICHMOND, Ind., April 27 .- The museum is constantly receiving additions of more or less value. The last added are two mounted alligators and a sea porcupine, the gift of John B. Dougan. H. L. Weber, and zinc ores from Arkansas. The literary societies held their regular meetings on Friday evening. In the Ionian, the young men's organization, the programme included the following: "The Month of April in the History of the United States," Albert Small; selection from Paul Revere's ride, Lowell Parker; "The United States as a Military Power-Past, Present and Future," Wilfred Reynolds; oration, "The Yankee Soldier Hero," Edmund Albertson. In the Phoenix, the girls' society, there was an instrumental duet by the Misses Small and Ferrell; "Spring Poetry," Lela Kinkead; "Prince Henry's Visit to America," Laura Mendehall; reading, Gertrude Wiltsie; pantomime, "Rock Me to Sleep," Maude White. The issue of the Earlhamits, which appeared yesterday, was devoted almost entirely to the departments of mathematics and engineering, and was a highly creditable number. There are a number of special articles, a list of graduates from hese courses in the college and of former students now engaged in civil engineering and a sketch of Prof. R. L. Sackett, head of the departments.

Accused of Stealing Wheat. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

CAMBRIDGE CITY, Ind., April 27.-Two young men of this city, Fred Keever and Bart Bell, aged sixteen and twenty-one years, are in trouble, partly due to their great desire to obtain something for nothing and also to the timely cessation of the rain early Saturday morning. They borrowed a light wagon from an obliging neighbor, and with it drove to the granary of a farmer near the city limits, where, it is alleged, they appropriated four bushels of his choice wheat. Their journey was made in the rain, which, opportunely for the farmer, ceased at the end of the route, thus enabling him to follow their tracks to a livery stable, where young Keever was found asleep. Young Bell adroitly Accidents Due to the Wind.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 27.-The high winds of the past week played queer pranks. James Nichols, running after his hat, which was blown into the street, ran into a horse and buggy, the shaft striking him in the side, breaking two ribs. Rushad been overrun with robberies and the sell Hays was blown from his wheel and one of his arms was broken. Several ferries over the Wabash south of Terre Haute were forced to suspend operations. The wind made big waves in the Wabash and the flat-bottomed ferry boats were tossed about in such manner that horses and foot passengers could not keep on their feet.

Love and Crime Mixed.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 27.-When Charles Porter, colored, went to the house of Mattie Covington, whose lover he had been, with a marriage license and a justice of the peace last night with the announcement that he had come to marry her seventeen-year-old daughter, Mrs. Covington chased him over the alley fence with a revolver. For this she was arrested. The George F. McCulloch's Growing Sysdaughter left the place, and Porter came back and took possession. Joseph Wharton, a machinist, called at the house to learn why his laundry had not been delivered. Porter met him at the door and cut his throat. Wharton was found bleeding to death in the street. At the police station the police surgeon by quick work sewed up the artery and saved his life.

Charged with Malicious Trespass.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal, TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 27 .- Conductor Quackenbush and Motorman Spencer, of the interurban car which was stoned Friday night at Seeleyville, surrendered to the justice of the peace, who had issued warrants for them on the charge of malicious trespass, preferred by Saloon Keeper Stephens, of Seeleyville. The front of his saloon was riddled by shots fired by the train crew. Several shots entered his saloon. A miner named Wesley Sanders was struck in the jaw by a bullet while playing pool in another saloon. It is said that the people generally of Seeleyville discountenance the attacks on cars, which have been frequent at that point, but that Miss Susa Rainier, Chalmers; Miss Vir- they object to the random shooting of #### Farmers Discouraged.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. KOKOMO, Ind., April 27.-Farmers in Howard and adjoining counties are much discouraged over the crop prospects. They are a unit in declaring that by no possibility can the wheat crop be more than half a yield. The fly, the hot winds, dry soil and cool weather have damaged the wheat irreparably, and with favorable conditions from now on the yield will be less than 50 per cent, of the average. The continued cool weather is delaying planting and seeding. Oats are not sprouting, pasture is slow in coming and altogether the farm prospects are gloomy. Warm weather and rain are badly needed.

Divorce Suit Causes Surprise.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 27 .- A divorce suit which has caused surprise among the society folk of this city has been filed in the Cass Circuit Court in which Mrs. Ada Michaels is the plaintiff and George W. Michaels the defendant. Mr. Michaels was formerly president of Michaels College, which burned in this city several years ago and is well known throughout the State. The defendant is at present at Excelsion Springs, Mo. The grounds alleged are cruel and inhuman treatment and the plaintiff asks alimony in the sum of $10,000.

TRACTION LINES MERGED

tem Now Certain to Have a Branch to Kendallville.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 27.-Joseph T. McNary, president of the Logansport, Rochester & Northern Traction Company, and Walter A. Osmer and Seth M. Velsey, directors of the company, have returned from Fort Wayne, where, at a meeting of the directors of the Logansport, Rochester & Northern and representatives of the Indiana Northern Traction companies, held at the Wayne Hotel Saturday night, the interests of the two companies were St. Louis ...... 8 merged, the directors of the Logansport, Rochester & Northern line transferring stock in their company in exchange for stock in the Indiana Northern Traction Company, recently organized at Indian- Baltimore ..... apolis with a capitalization of $3,500,000. Among those in attendance at the meeting in audition to the above were John E. Philadelphia ...... 3 Beyer and George W. Holman, of Rochester & Northern line, and George F. McCulloch and C. W. McGuire, of Muncie, representing the Indiana Northern Traction

Northern Traction interests with those of the Indiana Northern Traction Company ion of the line to Kendallville, which the directors of that line have tried to finance for almost two years, but without success. The Logansport parties interested in the merger state that according to the terms agreed upon all of the present stockholders of the Logansport, Rochester & Northern line will continue as such and will be associated with the enterprise as heretofore. One of the reasons assigned by them for the merging of their interests with the McCulloch interests is that they desired protect themselves from the Wabash River Traction Company, othewise known as the Boyd syndicate, which they claim is trying to shut out all other interurbans from this city. The latter, however, claim that they are willing that other interurbans enter the city and that they are prepared to make liberal traffic arrangements to allow them the use of their tracks. What effect the merger will have locally is difficult to determine, owing to the opposition of property owners on High street, which is one of the thoroughfares included in the franchise of the Logansport, Rochester & Northern Traction Company. A temporary restraining order is now in effect in the Cass Circuit Court prohibiting the company from occupying the street from Sixth to Twenty-fifth street, and even if who are opposed to any interurban line paralleling the local street-railway system that they will fight the building of a line on High street. Many citizens are championing the cause of the Wabash River Traction Company, which is now in control of the local system, in its plea for protection. Mayor McKee, who has been the principal figure in the Common Council in ts fight against George J. Marott in which the latter was forced from the field, and who now vigorously champions the cause of the Wabash River Traction Company. stated this morning that if an atten it is made to occupy High street he will proceed individually in the courts to prevent it. The hearing on the temporary injunction against the Logansport, Rochester &

STORM AT PITTSBURG.

Much Property Damaged and at Least Two Lives Lost.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 27.-The windstorm of almost cyclonic proportions which prevailed in this city during all of yesterday and the greater part of to-day was that death came from a revolver shot made followed by much destruction of property by the victim. No reason is given for the and was the cause of the loss of at least two lives. Last night as the Cumberland accommodation train on the Baltimore & Ohio was approaching the city the engine was thrown from the track and overturned at Port Perry by the roof of a freight car standing on a siding being blown in front of it. Edward G. Sporrow, the fireman, was caught under the wreck and so badly scalded that he died shortly afterward. None of the passengers was hurt. To-day at McDonald an Italian, whose name cannot be learned, was crushed to death by an oil derrick being blown over on him. Another death, the result of the

CHICAGO, April 27 .- Chicago won today's game by bunching hits with bases Secretary Gear in Favor of Co-Operaton balls. Garvin's fine pitching prevented Cleveland from scoring. A home run by ing with Club Owners to Perpetuate Game-Baseball Talk.

"There is hardly any doubt of the Protective Players' Association adopting more pronounced measures against the contractjumping habit when the annual meeting is held in June," said Dale D. Gear, secretary of the association and manager of the Kansas City Ball Club, at the Grand Hotel last Chicago ...... 0 0 2 3 0 3 0 1 -3 night, "The association adopted a resolution against contract-jumping last fall, but the force of it was only morally against Left on bases-Chicago, 9; Cleveland, 5. the practice. drastic measures taken. "The date for the annual meeting has not been set, but it will probably be held the latter part of June. New officers will then Time-Two hours, Umpires-Connolly and be elected and it is possible that changes will be made in the constitution. Questions have arisen that will make some changes necessary."

"Isn't it true, Mr. Gear, that the Players' Association is tottering and is not as strong as when first organized?" was asked.

other shut-out in the opening game of the "Yes, I can say that the association is series with Detroit. The visitors did some weaker, and this is largely due to the selgood sticking and this, coupled with poor fishness of many players. It seems that work by Powell, accounts for their victory. many players are too short-sighted to see into the future and realize that unless they stand together and abide by the rules of the association the organization will collapse. The contract-jumping evil has had a great deal to do with disrupting the association. We do not countenance contractjumping, but the players who have been guilty cannot be severely punished because our law against it is only a moral one as it now stands. The future meeting of the association will witness the adoption of laws that will bear severely on such practices.

"I am in favor of reorganizing the asso-Holmes, Three-base hits-Maguire and ciation so that we will have a delegate to our meetings from each league. Two delegates are now allowed from each club, but it is impossible to have a good representation of delegates when a meeting is held during the playing season. With a man as president of the association who has executive ability and at the same time is capable of holding such an office, there could be one delegate from each league who could attend the meetings. Supposing the American Association had one delegate He would learn the opinions of all the players in the eight clubs by coming in contact with them and he could present their views before a meeting of the association. The RHE | same would hold true in other leagues.

TIME FOR REORGANIZATION. "The time is soon coming when baseball is to be reorganized and again placed upon a sound business footing. We, the players of the Players' Protective Association, should co-operate with the club owners. We could gain representation at the meetings of the big leagues and work in conjunction with the men who furnish the capital to keep professional ball before the public. There will be another national agreement and the minor leagues will again be controlled by the big leagues. The players will have to watch for that time and be united to stand for their rights. At the same time they must not be selfish. People know that the club own-Haute defeated Evansville, 5 to 3, to-day in | ers are paying more money for the services of players during the present war time than many of the players are worth. Players argue that they must get all the salary this year they can, but that is where they show their short-sightedness. We must work in unison with the capital behind baseball, or if we don't the game as a profession will be wrecked.

"I have endeavored to point out to many players the folly of the clubs paying enormous salaries this year and of them trying to exact a great deal more money than they are worth. There will be great deal of money lost by club owners this year and the time is sure to come and that very soon when John T. Brush will centrol the entire situation or there will be a general compromise and players will find that they will not receive the handsome salaries now being paid. Mr. Brush is well liked by players, as he has always treated them fairly. We must look forward to that time and be prepared to meet it. The players must have their rights observed, but the ARCHBISHOP CORRIGAN'S ILLNESS rights of clubs owners and capital must also be observed by the players. Many of the players are cutting their own throats and their actions are injuring the game. We will yet see legislation which will place the game on a sound basis and men with capital will not be afraid to invest it. If that time does not come very soon the future for the ball player is very dark. These matters will all be discussed at the association meeting and I look for some action to be taken that will bring about a most harmonious feeling between players and club owners. Of course I am with the players, but I believe I am looking far enough ahead to realize that we must co-operate to a certain extent with the club owners."
